

KAWAGOE LAB.

[Educational activities based on the research in IIS]

Office for the Next Generation

<http://www.iis.u-tokyo.ac.jp/~shiok/supernova/>

Engineering Literacy

Science Interpreter
Training Program

Educational activities based on the research in IIS

Research for educational activities based on the cutting-edge research in the IIS

Aim: Research of new educational activities and outreach programs based on the cutting-edge research in the IIS by cooperating with the industries in order to improve science and technology literacy among younger generation

Educational Activities cooperated with the industries

Planning and running the educational activities based on the cutting-edge research in the IIS by cooperating with the industries

Visiting lectures

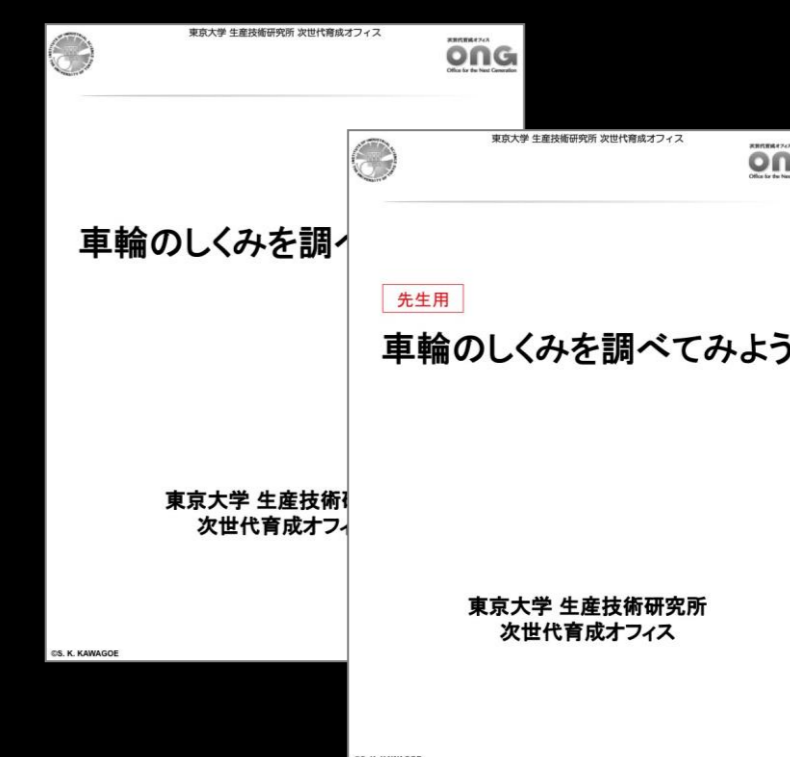

Workshops

Development of Teaching Materials

Development of teaching materials based on new educational activities

Experimental teaching-materials

Worksheets

Digital teaching materials

Various Science and Technology Communication Activities

Carrying out various science and technology communication activities

Science cafe

Seminar

Workplace experience

Systematizing these educational activities academically