In the next-generation systems energy, we need to optimize utilization of relevant technologies (Sustainable technology, Energy creation, Natural energy, Unutilized energy, Energy interchange, and Energy Conservation.) Using information related to buildings, analyze for optimized control by machine learning and AI. We aim to construct a system that surpasses and coordinates with various smart systems, and we propose social implementation of the next generation platform in cooperation with domestic and overseas, society and companies.